

Program Manager at Mere Culture Centre

We expect from you:

- Experience in cultural management, event organization, or project management.
- Creativity and vision on how to transform the Mere Culture Centre into an open and modern event space.
- Excellent communication skills and readiness to work with diverse cultures and communities.
- Fluency in Estonian and Russian; knowledge of English is an advantage.

Your main responsibilities:

- Designing and developing the cultural program of the Mere Culture Centre that appeals to different nationalities and generations.
- Building and strengthening cooperation with creative individuals, organizations, and festivals.
- Maintaining existing and initiating new cultural and community projects that attract a diverse audience to the Centre.
- Coordinating the budget and organizational aspects related to the program.
- Analyzing the impact of the programs and continuously improving their content.

We offer:

- The opportunity to shape the new content identity of one of the cultural centres in the heart of Tallinn.
- A working environment where you can bring your ideas to life and contribute to the broader development of cultural life.
- A friendly team and an inspiring working atmosphere.
- A competitive salary.

The Mere Culture Centre and the role of the Program Manager

The Mere Culture Centre is a modern meeting place in the heart of Tallinn. Its mission is to bring together different communities and cultures, offering high-quality experiences to both locals and international visitors.

The Program Manager is responsible for creating and developing a diverse and inspiring cultural program for the Centre.

How does your role differ from that of the Centre Director?

The Director of the Centre is responsible for the overall strategy, development, budget, and daily operations of the institution.

The Program Manager shapes the content identity of the Centre: deciding which events and ideas reach the audience, and which cultural groups and associations will collaborate and work within the Centre.

To apply, please send your CV and a short vision statement (What role could the Mere Culture Centre play in the cultural life of Tallinn?) by no later than October 12, 2025.

Please send your CV and vision statement to: info@kultuurikatel.ee.
